ANOTHER brilliant out-of-town wedding scheduled for this week will be that of Miss Elizabeth Munro, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Munro, formerly of Maryland, and Marion Butt Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Rice Warren, of this city, which will be celebrated at 8 o'clock this evening in St. Matthew's Cathedral, Dallas, Texas. Rev. Harry T. Moore, dean of the church, officiating. Decorations will be in palms and Annonis lilies, and clusters of pink roses will bank the chancel. David E. Grove, the organist of the church, will render a very elaborate musical program during the assembly of the guests, and Martin W. Pours will sing "O Perfect Love."

The bride will enter the church on the arm of her father, who will give her away. Her wedding gown will be fashioned of soft white satin and draped with broad ruffles, and her veil of duchess and point lace has been in the family for a number of generations. Her ornaments will be pearls, and she will carry a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Grace Munro, who will attend her sister as maid of honor, will wear a frock of deep red net, made over pink meringue and trimmed with bands of beaded passementerie, and will carry a bouquet of Killarney roses.

James Harold Snell will act as best man, and the ushers will include Edwin D. Stebbins, of Austin, and Maurice Freeman, of Dallas.

Quantities of pink flowers, mingled with lilies and pink shaded lights, will decorate the home of the bride, where a reception will be given following the ceremony at the church. Mr. Warren and his bride will leave at once for San Antonio and Southern Texas.

Mrs. Meredith's Luncheon.
Mrs. Wyndham B. Meredith's luncheon yesterday for Mrs. Talbot, of Brookline, Mass., was a very handsome affair, and about 100 guests were entertained. The house was a veritable tower of beautiful spring flowers, and a great basket of yellow blossoms ornamented the table in the dining room. Mrs. Meredith wore a handsome gown of blue velvet, and the guest of honor was garbed in pale gray chiffon cloth. The room in which the entertaining party stood was done entirely in pink flowers, and the smartly gowned women invited to meet Mrs. Talbot

Bridge Party.
The bridge party at the Jefferson Hotel on Friday afternoon will be one of the smartest functions of the week. The decorations will be entirely in spring flowers, and attractive prizes will be awarded for the highest scores. Bridge whist will be played, and tables will be arranged in the palm garden. Some of the most prominent society women here will receive, and the tables will be filled with well-known society folk.

Meetings This Afternoon.
The Know-Your-City Study Class, which has been holding meetings every Tuesday afternoon for the past three weeks, grows more intensely interesting with every lesson. Members realize that the facts are more valuable than general impressions, and are able to state the facts must be simple, definite and accurate. Moreover, workers on the various committees have been made to see during the past few weeks that the study of the city often need the encouragement of knowing the public follows their work with interest and can make good use of its results. The next meeting will be held this afternoon from 5:15 o'clock to 6:15 in the Sunday school room of the Seventh Street Presbyterian Church, with Mrs. J. W. Durham as chairman. The subject to be discussed will be "Industry."

The Helping Circle of the King's Daughters will hold a meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Johnson Ridenour, 2311 East Broad Street. All members are urged to be present.

Married in Hampton.
Walter W. Estes, of South Hill, and Mrs. Inez W. Wakenfeld, of Hampton, Va., were married at the home of Mrs. Wakenfeld in Hampton on Saturday morning of last week. Both Mr. and Mrs. Estes are well known in this city.

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. M. Thorpe, 2107 Floyd Avenue, when his bride, Lola May, became the bride of Everett C. Creekmore, the Rev. Hall, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, performing the ceremony. The parlors were beautifully decorated in palms and ferns. The bride wore white, and carried lilies of the valley. Mrs. White played the wedding march. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Creekmore left for a wedding trip.

Philpotts-Riddell.
The wedding of Miss Agnes Virginia Riddell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Miles, and Joseph C. Philpotts, of this city, took place yesterday morning at half-past 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, 215 South Chesapeake Street. Only the immediate families were present at the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. H. Hutson, pastor of the First Street Baptist Church, and on their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Philpotts will be at home at 505 East Clay Street.

Invitations Issued.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Holzbach have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Ora Virginia, to Howard Alexander Larson, the ceremony to take place on Wednesday evening, April 26, at half-past 7 o'clock in the First English Lutheran Church, of this city.

GLASS ADDRESSES VOTERS OF ESSEX

He Arraigns in Caustic Terms Leaders of Dominant Element in Party.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Tappahannock, Va., April 17.—A great crowd of people from Essex and the surrounding counties assembled here to-day to attend court and hear Congressman Carter Glass speak in advocacy of his candidacy for the United States Senate against Senator Swanson. Soon after dinner the courthouse was crowded to its utmost capacity, one of the galleries being filled with women. Mr. Glass was introduced by Judge Thomas Blakey, now Commonwealth's Attorney for Essex, who paid him a high tribute.

Mr. Glass was received with generous applause, and for nearly two hours he discussed matters connected with the present contest, following in the main the lines of his recent speech in Richmond. He arraigned in caustic terms the leaders of the dominant element of the Democratic party, and especially the administration of his competitor as Governor of Virginia, saying that he had spent $5,000,000 more than Montague and left the office of the State Treasury empty, and the State $100,000 in debt. He paid his respects to the South Boston News, and closed with a plea for honest elections, purity in politics and a revival of State pride and patriotism.

Throughout his speech Mr. Glass was greeted with warm applause, and at the conclusion there was a demonstration of approval.

Mr. Glass said in part: "In the opening speech of my campaign at Richmond about two weeks ago, I sharply drew attention to the fact that every possible avenue of publicity was being blocked by the

LADY IN BAD STATE

It Really Looked As If There Was No Way to Relieve Her Except By An Operation.

Ferris, Tex.—A letter from Mary Kilman, of this place, recites how Cardui, used as a tonic, made her well and brought back her strength.

"I was confined to my bed for three months," she says, "and during this time suffered untold agony."

"I had a rising tumor or something of the kind in my right side. The doctor said an operation was almost inevitable, and it really looked as if there was no other way."

"The rising tumor and I was in a critical condition, when I decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic."

"I used two bottles, and now I am well and able to do a great part of my work. I can always speak a good word for this excellent tonic medicine."

Do you need a tonic?

Nobody knows, so well as you, whether you do or not.

A tonic is to help you over the hard places, to relieve headache and other unnecessary pains, the signs of nerve exhaustion or overwork.

It is to make you feel fresh and bright when you feel tired, mopey and drowsy. To help you feel a pleasure in your work when you wish you were dead, rather than have to do it.

Don't cry, or worry. Take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

machine crowd in their attempt to prevent an adequate presentation of the issue of the campaign to the people of Virginia. I charged and now charge again, that newspapers are being subsidized. I charged, and I now charge again, that their columns have not only been bought for my competitor, but that they have been bought to the degree as to exclude me from the right of defending myself from attack even at the full advertising rates charged by such papers.

"I cited a single instance of this disgraceful method of campaigning, but purposely did not give the name of the paper. Immediately there was an outcry among some of the machine organs, contending that I had brought very honest newspaper in Virginia under suspicion. Who ever heard of such nonsense? Suppose I were to proclaim that a burglary had been committed in this community, and that I knew the thief; do you imagine that any of the honest citizens of Essex county, secure in their integrity, would feel disturbed in their minds because I did not at once reveal his identity? I wanted to publish a newspaper, to reveal itself, and it has done so. Now I want the man who bought and deceived it to reveal himself; and if he does not do it speedily, it may be that I shall do it for him."

"The South Boston News was the one paper I alluded to in my tirade speech as having for years been bitterly hostile to the political machine in Virginia, as having endorsed the present anti-machine candidate in this State, and as having subsequently sold exclusive rights in its columns to my competitor. I charged that it had not only sold the right in its editorial columns to the candidacy of the Governor's temporary appointee, and denied to me and my friends the right to present my candidacy to the people of Halifax through its columns. It had sold the machine crowd the right to assail and defeat the right of answer, though I should offer to pay full advertising rates for the space required in which to make answer to their defamatory assaults."

"The man who purchased this privilege from the South Boston News is as silent as the tomb under the charge I publicly made at Richmond. And what is the reply of the purchased newspaper itself? It is not a denial; it says that it is not a denial; it is a direct challenge in question. It shamelessly contends that it has a right to do this degrading thing, and thus outrage every consideration upon which the freedom of the press was founded. It impudently claims that its advertisements with announcements of the United States Senate, and proclaims its equal right to reject them both. And that is its answer to my indictment."

"It undertakes to divert attention from its own exclusive political rights in its columns by directing me a stream of senseless abuse, charging me with injustice and cowardice and with being a participant in, and a beneficiary of, ring rule in Virginia. I say that I have never been in a ring in Congress, and that it is a 'large enough for my capacity.' Let me, my fellow-citizens, briefly and directly dispose of this depraved public journal, and depict to you at the same time the methods of those who would, by systematic press campaign, and by the use of the right of access to the people of Virginia. On the 15th day of last December, discussing the senatorship, this newspaper that now seeks to hide its shame by calling me a coward and ring leader, said:

"While Swanson may have a strong organization following, it will hardly land him if opposed, as he will likely be, by Congressman Glass. Mr. Glass has never known defeat in any campaign. I sharply drew attention to the fact that every possible avenue of publicity was being blocked by the of the paper at advertising rates. The answer came back by letter, and I have it here, saying that both the editor and the publisher of the paper had been seen, and they stated that 'their columns were sold to the other side, and they could not put in anything relative to the United States senatorial canvass—except from the other side.'

Not Only Specimen.

"Of course, this was true. It was not denied, and while it was worse, it is not the only specimen of the method employed by the political machine in Virginia to blockade the channels of publicity by utterly depraving the press. As I said in my speech at Richmond, so I repeat here, Judge Lindsay's graphic description of the political beast in Colorado scarcely recited an excusable species of political activity against the fight for honest politics in that State that has not found its duplications in Virginia since this senatorial campaign began."

"Spies were put at Lindsay's heels, newspapers were threatened with ruin, friends were warned to desert him; his enemies, quickened by promised reward, and every conceivable influence invoked to defeat and humiliate him. But he triumphed over them all."
